Move Announcement ad

We're steppin' out to new horizons.

We've hit our stride and are on a path to the future. That's why we're relocating to a new state-of-the-art facility designed for the technological efficiencies demanded by leading edge financial services.

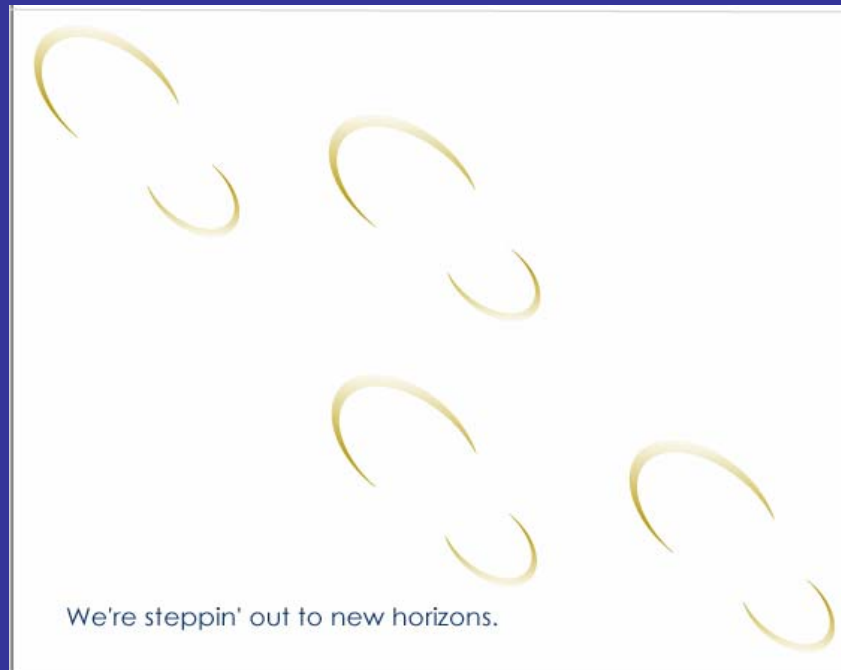

What's more, we've formed a new Financial Services Center called The Bentley Group, to more comprehensively serve the evolving needs of our clients and the community.

The Bentley Group offers services beyond traditional tax and compliance; cost segregation studies, business valuations, litigation support, investment planning, eldercare planning, retirement plan design and administration, employee benefit plan administration, charitable gifting planning, human resource services, information technology consulting and marketing advisory services.

We've put our best foot forward, so stop by and visit and we'll explore the road to your success together.

The Bentley Group, State-of-the-Art Financial Services Center Created in Warwick

DiSanto, Priest & Co., one of Rhode Island's largest Certified Public Accounting (CPA) firms, is relocating to new facilities at 117 Metro Center Boulevard, Warwick, RI.

The 25000 sq. foot facility, created by Michael Integlia Builders and Vision 3 Architects, is a state-of-the-art space specifically designed for the technological efficiencies demanded by today's financial services.

"In order to provide the high level of service our clients require and to attract high quality staff, it's critical to have a high level facility," said David DiSanto, Managing Partner of the firm. "This facility was designed to efficiently deliver those services today with ample provision for future growth."

Joining Disanto, Priest, & Co. at the new facility will be affiliates firms, Bentley Wealth Advisors, LLC, Bentley Employee Benefits Group, LLC, Bentley Consulting Group, LLC and the Bentley Foundation, creating one of the largest, most diverse financial services centers in the area.

Designated The Bentley Group, these firms collectively and independently offer leading edge services beyond the traditional tax and compliance services offered by typical CPA firms; Cost Segregation studies, Business valuations, Business succession planning, Investment planning, management and review, Financial planning, Forensic accounting, Litigation Support and expert witness testimony,

"In recent years over 50% of practicing professionals have migrated from public accounting firms to private industry," said John Brough, Partner in Disanto, Priest, & Co., "this shift has caused a systemic change in the kinds of services public accountants offer their private counterparts. Today's CPAs have evolved to Financial Partners, offering a variety of added value services that complement and enhances client capabilities."

The New facility will be fully occupied by close to 100 professionals on or about June XX. A formal open house and dedication is planned for July XX.

A cost segregation study is like digging for buried treasure.

If you've built or bought a commercial property for over $1 million in the last 10 years, a cost segregation study could lower your tax bill by five, six or even seven figures.

This engineering based study looks for, analyzes and allocates specific improvements or tangible property over 15, 7, or 5 years instead of 27.5 or 30. You could find increased deductions, accelerated depreciation and improved cash flow by writing off assets like an obsolete, damaged or replaced roof, boiler or windows, for instance.

Find out more. Call for a FREE ESTIMATE of the potential tax savings you can unearth.

Determining the value of your business makes empirical sense.

The value of a business can be the basis for ongoing operations, capital, and acquisitions and other strategic transactions. What's more, since 90% of small businesses are family owned, business value becomes critical in estate and succession planning. We understand that years of energy and talent went into building your business so our credentialed professionals use their years of experience to provide the most comprehensive valuations possible. Find out how you can benefit today.
