IT Services Division of Financial Services Firm Given New Identity.

The IT Services division of Bentley Consulting Group, LLC has been renamed Bentley Information Technology Systems (BITS).

The group, an affiliate of DiSanto, Priest & Co., provides local and wide area network service and support, secure remote access solutions, virtual private network implementation, internet service consultation, network security and IT support and consulting and other IT services to organizations in Southeastern New England.

"Our strategy in giving Bentley Information Technology Systems its own identity is to provide more focused support in accomplishing its mission" said John Brough, Partner at DiSanto, Priest & Co. and Managing Director of Bentley Consulting Group, LLC. "Our goal is to provide consistency, reliability and accountability to our customers through controlled growth and realistic deployment of our skills to fit client needs" Brough said.

Bentley Information Technology Systems (BITS) is headed by Fabio Carvalho, Manager of Information Technology for BITS.

"All too often in this changing technology landscape and tough economy, unrealistic or overzealous promises are made that are of little service to anyone. That's simply not our style." states Carvalho. "We treat our client's network as if it was our own, whether we're providing system maintenance to extend a client's server or network until upgrades are economically feasible or acting as IT director for a 1000 seat municipality, our accountability to the client is the same" said Carvalho.
